VOL. XVI. CLOVERPORT, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1891. NO. 14.

TO GRIND CUSTOM WHEAT

As it is our special desire to please the farmers, we now offer to grind

Custom Wheat

on every

Friday & Saturday

In each week in lots not less than six bushels. We will take one-sixth for toll and give all the Flour the wheat makes after the toll is taken out. On any other day we will have to exchange flour for wheat.

Believing that this plan will suit the people, we hope to receive the patronage of all.

AFTER ALL BIG FIRES.

MEN WHO MAY BE SEEN IN THE RUINS OF A CONFLAGRATION.

Strange Things Happen That Ordinary People Would Never Dream About.
The Work That Firemen, Policemen, Patrolmen and Adjusters Do.

After the fire is over, what then? The average citizen sees only a heap of smoking ruins and thinks that nothing remains to be done but to clear them away and build anew. But to the initiated the details of the work are manifold.
There are four bodies of men actively concerned with the ruins.

First, the firemen. They distrust the red dragon. He may be lurking under any of the heaps of bricks, ready for a fresh outbreak. So they do what they call overhauling. They turn over all the smoking piles and drench the embers and wet down the neighboring walls and remain on guard until everything is cold. Sometimes they have to wait nearly a week, and their work after the fire is very laborious, as in the Park place fire, where so many lives were lost.
Three days after the fire was over there were still fifty firemen at work on the ruins getting out the bodies and watching the place to make sure that no flames would start up again. Many of these fifty men worked for forty-eight hours incessantly, with only three hours intervals for meals. At the great fire that destroyed the Havemeyer sugar refinery it was more than a week before the ruins were cold enough to be safe.

Second, the police. They protect the firemen from the crowds of citizens who come to look on and the property rescued from the rubble who come to loot.
They draw what is called a fire line about the burning building and keep it up after it is turned into the work of the firemen is done.
Third, the fire patrol. This is a professional band of property rescuers, maintained by the insurance companies.
It was organized forty years ago, and was then composed entirely of members of the volunteer fire department. In 1863 it was incorporated under a charter which commissioned it to save lives and property at fires. In the first place it really was a patrol, walking about the streets from 7:30 o'clock each evening till 5:30 o'clock next morning looking for fires. Now it is called to fires in the same way as the regular fire department. Its men used to wear the same uniforms as the firemen, but there was a row over that and now they are distinguished by red stripes.

THE FIRE PATROL.
The men of the fire patrol go out with trucks, one truck from each station.
Each truck carries eleven men and axes, ladders, brooms, shovels, crowbars and twenty-four immense tarpaulin coverings, with which the fire patrol rushes into a building comparatively safe from fire, but drenched with water, and covers up the goods there. The patrolmen usually work under the firemen. For instance, if there is a fire on the fourth floor they are busy on the third floor and the floors below covering up goods with the tarpaulins and removing them out of the way of water.
They also follow the hose lines where these lines run through buildings not on fire to stop all leaks in the hose or set buckets under the leaks or protect goods from spray. They can't tell till the fire is over whether the property they are saving is insured or not; therefore they go ahead without paying any attention to the question.

The fire patrol follow the firemen and fix things up, saving all they can for the insurance companies and stopping all unnecessary damage. When the firemen and police have gone away the fire patrol stays with the agents of the owners, guarding the goods till the insurance is settled or the rescued property is removed to a place of safety.
After all is said and done at the fire proper, come the insurance adjusters poking about the ruins. This is a small, high priced body of shrewd and experienced men, whose business is to find out on behalf of the insurance companies how much the loss was. An insurance adjuster will always tell you that his is a judicial function, just as a district attorney always contends that he is acting judicially, though the prisoner may not think so. The insured seldom agree with the insurance adjuster. He is sent
and is on the watch for fraud.

THE ADJUSTERS' WORK.
The serious work does not usually begin till the ashes are cold. Insurance companies don't take inventories of the property insured nowadays. The contents of a store are constantly changing.
They wait for the insured to make out his claim in itemized form. Then they call for the books and the vouchers.
Maybe all books and vouchers are burned. In that case the memory of the owner must do its best to supply the deficiency.
Frauds are frequent, and the adjusters are usually in business for themselves—not attached to any particular company, but hired by the job, just like lawyers or private detectives. They have to keep their eyes wide open.

In cases like the Park place fire, where everything becomes a heap of ruins in an instant, and no books or papers or material evidence of any kind is left, the adjusters have to depend on careful scrutiny of the itemized claims; but in numbers of other cases where the fire department does its work rapidly the adjusters make most astonishing finds.
After the insurance is settled the owner of the building puts the ruins up for sale. There are a number of contractors in the city who will buy them on speculation.—New York Recorder.

A Man Has to Live Before He Learns

A log court-house in the backwoods of Tennessee was crowded. Sam, Hester had sued his wife for divorce, and it was expected that the decree would be rendered, hence the interest exhibited. Sam and his wife, Aunt Nan, were well known in the neighborhood, and "society" was shocked when the report that the old man wanted a divorce found circulation.
The old man declared that his wife deserted him and went to live with her daughter, and the woman swore that the old man had driven her away. The testimony on each side was unsatisfactory but it could be seen that the Judge leaned toward old Sam. When the court had been called to order, the Judge said:

"Sam, this is a serious affair."
"That's what it is, Judge."
"You and your wife lived together for thirty years or more?"
"Goin' on thirty-five years, Judge."
"And you want to quit?"
"That's it, Judge. We have stood each other about as long as we can."
"All right, the decree should be granted."
"All right. I am a free man now; am I, Judge?"
"Yes."
"Ain't married at all?"
"No."
"Single man, eh?"
"Yes."
"But I don't feel any younger."
"I suppose not."
"Say, Judge, I think this affair was a good deal my fault. I got to drinkin' a little too much, and don't reckon I behaved as I ought."

"Why didn't you say so at first?"
"Well, I was sorter pig-headed and didn't care. Say, Judge, jest let the whole thing go, please?"
"Can't let it go now. The decree is rendered."
"Well, can't you scratch it off?"
"No; if you want Nan for a wife you'll have to marry her."
"Well, by jingo, did you ever hear the like? And I will I have to take out license jest like I was marryin' for the first time?"
"Exactly."

"Well, by jings. Man has to live before he learns. Say, Judge, jest have a pair of license made out and I'll be dinged if I don't marry her right here."
"Marry who?" Aunt Nan asked.
"W'y you honey, of course."
"Well, I don't know about that. Parson Bradley asked me yesterday if I would marry him when this here affair was fixed up, and I told him that I would be powerful glad of the chance. Here he is now."

"Yes, sister Nan, and as I have got the license all fixed up, the Judge better tie us together right now." Old Sam was so astonished that he couldn't say a word, and gaped like a sick chicken, he stood looking on until the ceremony had been performed, and then he said:
"I'll be dingd if this don't beat anything I ever saw. Preacher come along and snatch a man's wife right away from him, and yet some folks say that this church business is too slow for them. I gad a man has to live before he learns." —Louisville Times.

"It is all over town!" "What?"
"The cold wind, this morning." "So it is, but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is all over town too, you can buy it everywhere for 25 cents a bottle."

The careful mother always keeps Salvation Oil handy. Twenty-five cents a

Will Have the Fight of His Life.

If Jack Gross concludes to enter the race for Congress in the Fourth District next year, Alex Montgomery will have the fight of his life to hold his seat. The on the leg would know the front name of every Democrat in the district before the convention met. Gen. Jack is a

A Hard Corner.

The age of 30 is a hard corner for a woman to turn, and 35 is still harder.
She feels that she is fast leaving her youth behind her. But there is no reason why a woman should be faded and pass at 35, or even at 45. The chief cause of the early fading of American women is found in the fact that many of them suffer from some form of female weakness or disease which robs the face of its bloom, draws dark circles about the eyes, brings early wrinkles and sal-lowness, and stamps the face and figure with signs of ill-health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure all these troubles, will bring back the lost bloom, and remove the pains and ailments which make women grow old before their time. Guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or price ($1.00) refunded.

That Terrible Cough

In the morning, hurried or difficult breathing, raising phlegm, tightness in the chest, quickened pulse, chilliness in the evening or sweats at night, all or any of these things are the first stages of consumption. Dr. Acker's English Cough Remedy will cure these fearful symptoms and is sold under a positive guarantee by G. W. Short, Cloverport, Ky., and OTHERS BACK OF IT.

The Falls of Rough Road Not Bought Solely For Local Business.

A Big Thing For Owensboro.

The Courier-Journal says: "The sale of the Owensboro, Falls of Rough and Green River railroad may prove an important fact in Southern and Western railroad circles. The men who bought the road have already made known their intention of extending the line to connect with the Chesapeake, Ohio and Southwestern at or near Leitchfield. This will give Owensboro another line into Louisville, with about the same mil-age as the Louisville, St. Louis and Texas. The work on this extension is to be begun at once."

It is now believed that the six men who have gotten possession of the road, secured it for the proposed road from Indianapolis to Chattanooga by way of Rockport and Owensboro. For some time surveyors have been at work on the route, and the road is a settled fact.
The promoters have been seeking an outlet from the junction at the Ohio river to Eastern points. Although the Indianapolis, Rockport and Chattanooga road is not mentioned in the sale of the road, it is said to be the interested party to the deal. This will give the road to Owensboro the local trade of a great territory, and furnish an important outlet, securing a formidable competitor to existing lines for freight business East, South and West. The road was built solely by Owensboro capital."

"There are millions in it" said a druggist when asked about Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cts.

For some time past I've been a rheumatic. I recently tried Salvation Oil which gave me almost instant relief. I sincerely recommend it as it has entirely cured me. JAMES GORDON, Balto, Md.

COL. EVANS OUSTED.

The Assault on the New Constitution Is Dismissed.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 27.—Judge Warren Montfort this afternoon delivered his opinion in the case of Evans and others for an injunction to prevent the promulgation and printing of the new Constitution. Judge Montfort sustains all three of the demurrers presented by Attorney General Hendricks, and holds that the parties have no right to sue, and that such rights only are vested in the power of the people. He further holds that the action is a political matter, and that the court has no jurisdiction over such matters.

3 OF Disease which afflict mankind are due to disorders of the blood. In fact, if the vital fluid is kept in good condition, the tendency to any disease is lessened by three-fourths. A harmless vegetable remedy, which cleanses the blood, should be taken occasionally by every one. In the young, it assists in the development of the body and mind. In the adult, it helps nature to keep up the equilibrium of strength, which is taxed by the labor and cares of life. To the old and those with the infirmities of age, it is invaluable for its tonic and strengthening powers, to prevent diseases which are so often fatal to old people. This remedy is Swift's Specific (S. S. S.). It cleans out all the germs and poison, and builds up the human organism. We will mail free a valuable book to all applicants.

Now is Kentucky's Chance.

Every business man in Louisville should take an interest in the Commercial Club's effort to work up a State sentiment in favor of an appropriation for an exhibit at the World's Fair. Kentucky should have a hundred thousand with which to make a suitable display.
There is not a State in the Union with more intrinsic wealth, with more mineral and timber resources, with more agricultural and live stock possibilities. And yet there is not a State in the Union which has been so poorly advertised—except in the matter of live stock. With millions upon millions of dollars' worth of valuable minerals under our mountains we are unknown to the world as a mineral State. Now is our chance to make a ten-strike. The world will be at Chicago, let us have an exhibit there that will show the world how great we are.—Louisville Post.

Jim. Richardson Sizing Up the Divine Sara.

Sara Bernhardt may be a great actress —probably she is. She is uglier than original sin has the temper of a fiend, and morals that a Jezebel would carry out the back-door with a pair of tongs before owning. Unrefined, unreal, un-American, unwomanly, unpleasant, this mother of a son whose father she couldn't swear to if her soul depended upon it, this triumph of genius, bra-zen and clever advertising, wins gilded fortune with unglad shame. The stage that has had a Mary Anderson has no place for a Sara Bernhardt. The audience that can enjoy the one and appreciate the other has a range of literary appropriateness superior to any emergency of earth.

The consensus of literary opinion in this neck of the woods is pretty unanimously voiced in the sentiments of a gentleman who bought Bernhardt tickets without knowing what he had bought, and left the theatre without knowing what Bernhardt had said: "Well, if I'd known she couldn't speak English, I'd be d—d if I'd paid ten dollars for tickets!"—Glasgow Times.

Fastest Train in the World.

The "Empire State Express" made its main trip last week with gratifying success.
Its schedule time from this city to Bu-falo, four hundred and forty miles, is eight hours and forty minutes. It ran into Buffalo less than two minutes late.
The average speed was more than fifty-two miles an hour. Here and there the train forged ahead at the rate of seventy miles an hour.

The New York Central is to be congratulated for giving the public the fastest train in the world. It is an event in the annals of railway travel.
Like all other advanced movements it is doubtless destined to be followed by other companies. In due time we may expect these flyers to become as common as the "limited" trains now are.—New York Herald.

The First Symptoms of Death.

Tired feeling, dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidence of poisoned blood.

failed to remove scrofulous or syphilitic poison. Sold under a positive guarantee
